

Urgent Care Association of America

Keith LeBlanc

Keith LeBlanc is the cofounder and CEO of Millennium Healthcare. In 2006, Mr. LeBlanc relocated to Post Katrina New Orleans to form Millennium Healthcare, LLC with his partners Dr. Gerry Cvitanovich and Dr. Michael D. Kotler. His past experiences aided him in assembling a Medical Management Company that encompasses development and ongoing services for Urgent Care Centers in the Southeast.

His background includes 6 years as a therapist, followed by his tenure as a Hospital Administrator serving as CEO of Humana Hospitals in New Orleans for 6 years. In 1994, he was the founder and CEO of Quest Group and Physician Equity MSO, a 50/50 joint venture with 13 partner physicians.

He has consulted for various other projects including: Healthcare Partner, Toshiba Medical Systems and Southern Companies (Surgery Center Development). In 2002, he joined SurgiCare Inc., an AMEX listed company. The restructure of SurgiCare included a refinance with the company's senior lender via a forbearance agreement raising over 15 million in capital for ongoing operations and overhaul of the company's infrastructure to meet the compliance standards of AMEX.

Mr. LeBlanc is a graduate of Louisiana State University Medical Center with degrees in Respiratory Therapy/Cardiopulmonary in 1980 and MHS in 1986.

Having been involved with the health care sector throughout his career, Keith LeBlanc, cofounder and CEO of Millennium Healthcare, has experienced first-hand the incredible changes the healthcare industry businesses which uniquely provide him to handle financial and business issues of today's health care marketplace. From his experiences as a hospital Administrator together with his extensive work with physicians and health systems he understands the trends and challenges of the industry.
